AERIAL FIREWORKS MARK CLOSE OF INAUGURATION OF WOODROW WILSON AT WASHINGTON D. C.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 5.—Aerial fireworks, with the sweeping, wide-flung rays of many searchlights revealing the outlines of the white dome of the capitol and other historic buildings made Washington a scene of beauty and brilliancy in the closing inauguration festivities last night. Never, it is said, has so brilliant a display of fireworks or an illumination of such magnitude been attempted. Large searchlights threw their rays along the avenues and on public buildings, while at the Monument grounds the crashing of thousands of aerial bombs and the flaming light from large set pieces illuminated the sky. But it was not alone a riot of bombs and flashlights. The entire display was significant of the arrival of the new executives, with set pieces showing the president and vice president and many designs of "Wilson" and "Marshall."

The illumination of the city began shortly after sunset. At once every part of Pennsylvania avenue, from the capitol to Washington circle, was ablaze with light. Peace monument stood out in bold relief and the avenue from end to end was transformed into a fairland of light by hundreds of incandescent lamps spanning the street in graceful arches. On the roofs of the senate and house office buildings, a number of powerful electric searchlights played upon the dome of the capitol, making the statue of liberty that crowns it stand out as of a living figure. Peace monument, originally intended for a fountain, was performing that function for the first time since the last inaugural. Upon its waters were thrown, by several boxlights, different colored rays weirdly beautiful.

The court of honor, in front of the White House, was a central point of illumination, as it had been of activity during the day, the replica of Jefferson's home at Monticello being the chief feature of the display. Facing the replica a huge spotlight threw its rays on the Jeffersonian mansion, bringing its portico, columns and colonial outline into brilliant relief against the background of cedar trees, their branches studded with countless miniature electric bulbs giving the effect of thousands of fireflies winging their way through the native pines which surround Monticello.

At midnight the streets slowly lapsed into darkness. The searchlights winked one after the other and the white dome of the capitol merged into such conspicuous brilliancy only a moment before. The slender shaft of the Washington monument disappeared suddenly. The Peace monument ceased splashing and its fountain of light went out. Pennsylvania avenue merged into its usual dimly-lighted self. The illumination and the fireworks were at an end.

GOLDFIELD TO INCREASE LICENSE OF ALL SALOONS

FIFTY DOLLARS MONTHLY WILL BE ADDED TO THE REVENUES
OF COUNTY

The county commissioners have decided to raise a revenue from the saloons in Goldfield, and District Attorney Diskin has been directed to draw up an ordinance under which in addition to the county license fee of $10 per month now paid by saloons, every saloon in Goldfield will be required to pay $50 a month, says the Tribune.

This resolution was adopted late yesterday afternoon. The first proposition was that of $100 a month for the privilege of doing business in the camp, but this, which was proposed by Commissioner Boerlin, was deemed to be too high by the other commissioners. Various other sums were spoken of and finally the figure was set at $50 a month.

This is the amount that will be incorporated in the ordinance, which is to be framed at once and submitted to the commissioners for adoption at the next meeting.

TEX WATSON SHORN OF GLORY AS PER VOW

SUBMITS TO FIRST HAIRCUT IN SIXTEEN YEARS AS RESULT
WILSON'S ELECTION

Tex Watson, whose crowning glory like the female of the species, has been his hair since Bryan was first defeated for the presidency, was shorn of his glory at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The long locks worn by Watson for sixteen years to mark his disapproval of republican presidential administrations, were amputated with the aid of a sharp pair of barbers shears, and the human aspect was restored to the visage of the well known Golden Arrow mining man.

Sixteen years ago Watson declared that he would never have his hair cut until a democrat occupied the presidents chair at the White House. Yesterday a democratic president was inaugurated, but Watson was not satisfied that Wilson would have time to occupy the chair and waited until today.

The performance today was watched by an interesting crowd and immediately after the ordeal had been safely passed Watson was photographed. A picture was also taken yesterday and copies of both will be forwarded to Senators Newlands and Pittman to be presented to President Wilson.

The heavy beard worn by Watson was not disturbed. He declared he had started to raise the beard during the last democratic administration under Cleveland and had no desire to part with it. He was advised to start out with a clean slate but attempts to persuade him to part with his facial decorations were futile.

TONOPAH MAN SELLS
JUNIPER MINING GROUND

E. A. Haggitt and Salt Lake associates recently closed a deal with McNamara and Price for their mining property at Juniper, east of Mina, says the Mina Miner. But little particulars of the deal have been given out, but it is known that basis of it is for a good round figure. The property bears all the evidence of becoming one of the big producing mines of the state. Already a large tonnage of good argillite of milling ore has been blocked out and the mine is being sunk on a five-foot ledge, all of which returns good values. The character of the ore is a white, silvery quartz, the values being in gold and the rock is free milling. Several hundred tons of ore of good value is piled on the dumps ready for treatment. Harry McNamara of Tonopah, is in charge of operations and extensive development is being pushed as rapidly as possible.

GAMBLING GAMES WILL RUN WIDE OPEN IN TONOPAH WITHOUT FEAR OF INTERRUPTION BY THE POLICE

Tonopah will be a wide open town tomorrow. Not even the stringency of the gambling laws will serve to prevent the resurrection of the days of old when the merry whirl of the ivory ball drew thousands to the roulette table; when the silent turn of the card and the click of the case keeper commanded attention to the faro bank, and the clicking of the dice made the crap table the paradise of the "bone shooters." The old days will be resurrected and gambling will be carried on the open. Old familiar faces that earnestly prayed for "Phoebe Dice" and "keep away craps" will again be in evidence while mining men, millionaires, miners and people from every walk of life will occupy seats at the faro table.

The occasion will be the taking of the moving pictures, showing Tonopah its mines and industries. The pictures, which are being taken by Chas. Pryor, president and general manager of the Yale Feature Film company, show a drama running the length of the four reels, and it is the drama that calls for the old gambling scenes. The pictures will be taken at the Big Casino tomorrow noon and from the interest manifested that resort should be packed to the doors. During the evening the dance hall will be in full swing and pictures will also be taken of this popular pastime. Countless girls will be on hand and the scenes will be true to life. Waiters and two-steps will be had without interruption, while the male dancers will be supplied with characters dressed in the rough garments that usually portray the style during the early days of a camp.
